Because proper digestion is a key to long-term health, ForMor formulates MEC to supply a wide range of plant-derived digestive enzymes making it a natural for use with every meal. Digestive enzymes are a necessary part of a healthy intestinal tract, especially the colon.

Enzymes are found naturally in raw fruits and vegetables. However, cooking processes and high temperatures can destroy enzymes. Additionally, as we age, the body's production of natural enzymes decreases, so adding them to a balanced diet makes good sense.
